KITCHEN COMMONS (<http://kitchencommons.net>) matches kitchen resources with community need, making it affordable and practical to cook healthy food, putting the dream of a food business in reach of low-income entrepreneurs, and advocating for food justice. We are a project of the Charitable Partnership Fund.

We are building the kitchen commons: a network of community kitchens in every neighborhood. Community kitchens are places where neighbors of all ages and backgrounds come together to make and share meals, learn from each other about cooking and preserving the harvest, and nurture small food businesses. They can be hosted by faith organizations, schools, community and senior centers, businesses and nonprofits. They can be certified for particular purposes, but many activities don't require certification or special equipment.

The role of Kitchen Commons is to support, develop, and promote these kitchen spaces. By fostering the development of lots of different kinds of kitchens, we can help meet evolving needs in different communities. We do this by connecting neighborhood kitchen organizers with resources, creating opportunities to network and share ideas, and advocating for policies that facilitate the development and use of community kitchens.

The Northeast Coalition of Neighborhoods is a proud sponsor of the NE Community Kitchen Project of Kitchen Commons. Dedicated to the livability of inner North and Northeast Portland, the Northeast Coalition of Neighborhoods is an independent 501c3. (Learn more at necoalition.org)
